OLD WORLD NEWS.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The supply trains in the Khyber pass are completely blocked up.

Three attacks have been made on the British by the tribes in the Kurum Valley since the 12th.

It is expected that Yakoob Khan's son, five years old, will be recognized as the successor to the throne.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT UFA.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 21.—The Russian official messenger states that there has been an immense fire at Ufa. More than a fifth part of the town was consumed, and many persons were killed. The loss of property is enormous.

The Golos expresses astonishment at the tone of hostility toward Russia pervading the speech of Lord Salisbury at Manchester Friday night last. The Golos says: "If it is reported that the Austro German alliance proves to be reality, Russia must secure to herself allies to act in the rear of the enemy, in case of an emergency. Lord Salisbury's speech not only opens Russia's eyes, but gives her freedom of action."

A Court Transfer Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The case of the State of Tennessee against James M. Davis came up for argument in the United States Supreme Court to-day upon a division of opinion in the United States Circuit Court for the middle district of Tennessee. Davis, who is Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, was indicted in the State court of Tennessee for the murder of James B. Haynes a citizen of that State. Upon a petition for the removal of the case from the State court to the United States Circuit Court under section six hundred and forty-three of the revised statutes, the lower court was divided and the case now comes here for adjudication.

The main question to be discussed is in the words of Attorney General Deven's brief—substantially the same as that which has for over half a century been debated in Congress and before the country, viz: whether the United States Constitution is a frame of government created by the people and acting directly from and upon individuals, or is it merely a compact or league of sovereign States. Those who insist that the general government is purely federal and not national in its character are logically compelled to deny the right to remove any cause from the State to the Federal Courts, and to declare the act of 1789, section 20, unconstitutional, because if any right of removal exists, it must extend alike to civil and criminal cases, and the extent to which, as well as the time and manner in which it shall be exercised (wherever Federal laws or their execution is concerned), is a question of expediency and not of power.

The Ameer's Abdication.

LONDON, October 20.—The correspondent of the Times at Simla says: Abdication is probably the wisest course for Yakoob Khan. We may now place on the throne a man fit for the position, and on whose friendship we can rely. It may be difficult to find a man to succeed the present Ameer, and when found he may at first require active support, but the task will be light compared with that of upholding a weak and irresolute puppet like Yakoob Khan.

The Times in a leading editorial says: It is quite possible that the abdication of the Ameer of Afghanistan may ultimately further the task on us in the punishment of Cabul and the reduction of Afghanistan to a settled government. The correspondent of the Times at Simla says that the Ameer had shown himself utterly unfit to rule a turbulent people.

Will This Thing Ever End?

RICHMOND, October 21.—A special from Alleghany Station on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad reports Miss Arabella Baker, a very pretty and highly respected young lady, residing near Old Sweet Springs, was outraged yesterday by a white man supposed to be a tramp. Miss Baker was milking a cow when assaulted, and though having but one hand made desperate resistance. During the struggle the thumb of her hand was almost severed by a knife, and nearly every thread of her clothing was torn off. The excitement in the neighborhood is intense, and search is being made in every direction for the perpetrator of the crime. If he is caught he will probably be lynched.

Relief for the Spanish Sufferers.

PARIS, October 21.—Numerous committees have been formed here for the relief of the sufferers by the floods in Spain. It is stated that King Alfonzo has declared that in view of such a calamity all sums which individuals or public bodies intend to contribute toward the celebration of his marriage, be devoted to the relief of the sufferers. The news of the formation of the new Turkish ministry has been received here with great disfavor, and is regarded as a ministry of intrigue and reaction.

Chamber of Commerce Subscriptions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Subscriptions to the Chamber of Commerce Relief Fund, for the sufferers by yellow fever at Memphis, is about ended. J. Crosby Brown, the treasurer, reports the receipt of two hundred and sixteen dollars since October 6th. Bismarck's Finger in the Pie.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—Herr Von Bennigsen, leader of the National Liberals, has been suggested as a candidate of the Conservative and National Liberals for president of the Prussian Diet. THE WELDON FAIR.

THE RAIN POURS DOWN STEADILY ALL YESTERDAY.

Large Number of Fine Horses on Exhibition—The Shooting Match—The Military.

Special Dispatch to the News.

WELDON, Oct. 21.—Yesterday the day opened clear and cool; the dust had been laid by Sunday's shower, and everything promised for a glorious time. Many articles for exhibition were received throughout the day, and many people came to see them. Still everything moved along easily.

To-day things are changed. The rain has been letting itself drop easily and steadily all day, making it excessively disagreeable. Those who have come dressed in their "best bib and tucker" have had to hide their flounces and furbelows beneath the ample folds of their waterproofs, and dainty boots and white skirts are at a discount.

The display of horses is very fine indeed; for be it known some of the best stock in the State is owned in and about Weldon, while from the lower counties enough have been sent to swell the interest. It is stated that there is a larger number of fine horses on exhibition than has ever appeared at any previous Fair.

Articles for exhibition keep coming in despite the rain. They have been arriving all day, and many more will be here to-morrow. The committees are busy getting them in shape, and therefore I cannot say much about them, only that they are of all natures, sizes, shapes and descriptions.

The crowd to-day was small, but what people there were present were on hand to witness the glass ball shooting and the trotting match. In the shooting match the prize gun was won by John May Hunter, of Enfield. The horse race was won by Norwood's "Pillbox."

The grand military display and competitive drill for the flag will take place to-morrow if the weather is at all suitable. I have not learened how many companies are to participate, but the Suffolk Grays, Edgecombe Guards and Goldsboro Rifles will arrive to-night. Nothing of particular interest is going on to-night, the rain being a damper on much out-door action. W.

Stock Law Meeting at Lincolnton.

Charlotte Observer, 21st.

Representatives of the farming interest of Lincoln, Gaston and Catawba counties, met yesterday at Lincolnton to confer together concerning the expediency of putting the stock law into operation in these counties. Col. Rankin, of Gaston, was made chairman of the meeting. R. I. McDowell, Esq., of Charlotte, who was present by invitation, was introduced by Mr. Sharpe as well known by the public through his articles written for the Southern Home on the subject of agriculture; he had spent a great part of his life in farming, was possessed of much practical knowledge on the subject, and living now in Mecklenburg, was thoroughly acquainted with the workings of the fence law. Mr. McDowell then delivered an address on the advantages of fencing up the stock instead of the crops. He went into the cost of fencing the lands, estimating that 12,500 rails are required to fence in twenty-five acres. The cost of these, at $1 per hundred, is $125. To clear the land the cost is $5 per acre, equal to $125 more; whole cost, $250—equal to the worth of the land at $10 per acre. All this could be saved by the fence law.

He then showed how this law in his county had improved the character of the stock generally, supplied Charlotte with butter and improved the quality of the beef and mutton to such an extent that stock from other counties is now almost unsaleable in Charlotte. He maintained that the practical operation of the law had broken down all opposition to it and even the colored people were now its friends. Mr. McDowell thought the experience of Mecklenburg should satisfy her neighbors of the beneficence of this law, as her people would hardly, through falsehood, palm it off on others if it was to their detriment.

The address continued through about an hour, and at its conclusion a number of questions were put to the speaker, all of which questions were satisfactorily answered.

The meeting was well attended and those present seemed heartily in favor of the stock law and hopeful of its adoption by their respective counties. This meeting was, of course, merely advisory in its character, but much is hoped for from the influence which will go out from it.

Baptism Under Difficulties.

Norfolk Virginian, 21st.

Sunday afternoon last quite a number of colored persons gathered at the southern end of Botetourt street to be present at the immersion of a newly-converted woman, who, the preacher explained had recently professed faith persistently, and earnestly desired to baptized. The chilling rain of the morning had ceased, the clouds had broken and cleared away, and from out the west there came a fresh and biting wind, which reminded one of the presence of receding autumn and the absence of the comfortable overcoat. After an affecting prayer and the remarks of the minister, the penitent was lifted from her seat in a hack, and appeared to the crowd an aged and decrepid woman, weak, palsied and scarcely strong enough to retain an upright position in her chair, which was supported by the minister on one side, and a strong, burly man on the other. The men were clothed in waterproof suits, and after a pause they carried the poor old woman, still in the chair, out into the river, where the man of God pronounced the final, "I baptize thee in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost," and the penitent was plunged beneath the waters.

As they bore her out a colored girl said: "'Long 'bout next week, gwine take that ole woman to the graveyard." The remarks sounded the thoughts of all who heard it, and while not wishing to disparage the faith which prompted the ceremony, we could not help wondering if here was not a case for Mr. Bergh.

For the Orphans.

Oxford Torchlight.

The third Saturday in November, the people of Knap of Reeds in this county, will have a public meeting and give a rousing big dinner for the benefit of the Orphan Asylum. Rev. A. W. Mangum, J. H. Mills, Esq., and other distinguished speakers will be present. A chapter of orphans will accompany Mr. Mills. Let every body turn out and give their presence and material aid to so commendable a cause.

Charley Ross Once More.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20.—Mr. Christian K. Ross, father of the missing Charley Ross, received an anonymous letter saying a man named Cachnour in the Ohio Penitentiary knew all about Charley's abduction. He was interviewed and told an apparently straight story; that he had been a detective and Texas ranger, but he evades direct questions. He says he had the missing boy in Virginia on June 7, 8, 9 and 10, in the year 1877, but refuses to designate the place. He says further that he was one of a band of eighty-four men organized for the purpose of concealing Charley and keeping him out of the hands of detectives.

STATE NEWS.

[Correspondence under this head is furnished by regular contributors to the News.]

GREENE.

WILLOW GREEN, October 19.—A great change in the weather took place this morning; it is now cloudy and cool. Trade is as good as could be expected, owing to the short crops and low price of cotton.

Mr. Stooks and Miss Phillips consented to live together last Thursday, both of Greene county.

We are sorry to know that Ohio was lost to Democracy.

Mr. Lorenzo McLawhorn, of Pitt, had his gin house destroyed by fire Saturday morning; loss heavy. Accidental.

Deer hunting is still the amusement of this section.

The late cotton has been doing well for the last few weeks.

Mrs R. A. L. Carr, of this place, goes ahead on cucumbers. She has plenty that will measure fourteen and a half inches in length, twelve and a half inches circumference and weigh from three to five pounds. E. H. H.

FORSYTHE.

WINSTON, Oct. 20.—We had a fine rain Saturday, and the weather is now clear and cool. Breaks in the warehouses are large and business brisk.

The Methodist Episcopal Sabbath school's concert, given in that church last week, was good.

Rev. Mr. Pain, of Wilmington, preached a sermon in the Presbyterian church last night. It was, apparently, only an ordinary effort, but we doubt whether it has many equals in the list of sermons preached over North Carolina on yesterday.

The Templeton Troupe arrived last night by special train, and will appear in Tise's Hall to-night. A good time is anticipated. We are informed that all the seats have been taken.

Most of our citizens who visited the Fair have returned, and express themselves as highly pleased. We received the NEWS regularly during Fair week, and must congratulate it on that pleasing success, as mail matters are generally deranged such times.

WAKE.

WAKE FOREST, Oct. 21.—Now that the students have all returned from a few happy wanderings during the past week, caused by the Fair, and since they are now seen and heard on every hand telling of the beauties, both natural and artificial, and of happy moments spent in company with their friends, it stirs to me write you a short piece. In fact such conversations awaken in me, an old man, rich fancies of unbruised, unbowed youth, visions of long perished hopes and shadows of unborn joys. Such times as were spent by many a youth within the walls of your city and near by it last week, bring before him many soft and delicate images, many lovely forms and divine voices and entrancing melodies. But these youth ought to remember that life is not all sunshine.

To-day they feel the chill of the shadow, while the sun hides behind the cloud. They must forget their walk near Juliet's moonlight bower and Miranda's enchanted isle.

Our town is very quiet to-day. All things work harmoniously here. Scarce a disturbance arises during the year. In fact each one has so much at heart the interest of his fellow-man—that all march along the rugged path, hand in hand.

The new building goes up slow, slow, slower still. We are not anxious for rain lest it should wash down the little work now done. However, there is hope for a greater progress.

The prospect bids fair to brings us the largest crowd to the senior speaking, next Friday, 24th, ever known. We are desirous that there should be a large attendance, because the young men feel complimented in such a case. The members of the senior class as I now recollect them are: J. T. Alderman, C. S. Farriss, J. N. Holding, W. H. Ragsdale, W. Ferebee, W. B. Waff, J. M. Davis, B. H. Phillips, M. A. Jones and W. T. Jones. The students are desirous to see a large number from Raleigh. It always cheers them to see them coming in in large numbers for a place which has done as much for an institution as Raleigh has for Wake Forest. Let as many come as will. We extend a happy, joyous welcome to all. ANON.

Freeman, the Child-Slayer.

New York Observer.

Living in Barnstable county, where Freeman and his wife, the fanatical Second adventists, are in jail awaiting their trial for the murder of their child, as an offering to God, I state some facts bearing upon the case. There has recently been found in Freeman's house a copy of "Josephus's History of the Jews," in which the story there given of Abraham has evidently been read, studied, interlined and marked, with the utmost attention, earnestness and interest. At the recent annual camp meeting of the Spiritualists here, a labored attempt was made by one of their leaders to cast the reproach of Freeman's act on the religion of the Bible, where the offering of Abraham is recorded. Freeman still claims that he had a clear and direct command to do the act, though his wife, under the action of maternal feeling, has some relenting and misgiving.

Names of Nails.

Many persons are puzzled to understand what the terms "fourpenny," "sixpenny" and "tenpenny" mean as applied to nails. "Four-penny" means four pounds to the thousand nails, "sixpenny" means six pounds to the thousand, and so on. It is an old English term, and meant at first "ten pound" nails (the thousand being understood) but the old English clipped it to "tenpun," and from that it degenerated until "penny" was substituted for "pound." When a thousand nails weigh less than one pound they are called tacks, brads, etc., and are reckoned by ounces.

Finding of the Body of a Child.

Charlotte Observer, 21st,

The partly decomposed body of a child, the color of which could not be determined, was discovered in the southern part of Third ward yesterday morning, not far from Calvary church. The indications are that it was unearthed by dogs, as one of the arms has entirely disappeared. No explanation of the presence of the child has been given by persons in the neighborhood. The coroner was informed of the discovery, and yesterday took the remains in charge. An investigation will be had this morning.

No Room For Discouragement.

Utica Observer.

The approaching Democratic victory in New York is not in the slightest degree endangered by the defeat in Ohio. Within ten days that fact will become apparent even to the stoutest defenders of Conkling and Cornell. Meantime the Democrats will perfect their organization that they may march in solid columns to assured success.

COURTNEY AND HANLAN.

THE MANAGEMENT CENSURED IN THE SEVEREST TERMS.

The Truth Coming out by Degrees---A Change of Sentiment in Courtney's Favor.

Rochester (N. Y.) Morning Herald, 18th.

It is agreed by all present at the "Great Boat Race" that there was never a more bare-faced swindle. No more disgusted crowd ever assembled to witness a boat or any other race. The writer was on the ground and received the opinions of the newspaper men and others, who watched the proceedings from beginning to end.

THE MANAGEMENT IS CENSURED

in the severest terms, but we are not prepared to state that Mr. Soule was a party in the fraud. It could not be expected that he would be on hand to watch the proceedings of the contestants, their boats and helpers. Mr. Courtney went over the course on time three different times before the race was to come off. His time was as follows: 33:03, 32:57½, 33. Hanlan, when he rowed over the course yesterday, made 33:56½. So it will be seen that had Mr. Courtney entered the race he would have had a fair chance of beating his contestant. What object could he have had, then, in allowing the race to be "thrown?" It appears to us that he would have made more money if he had rowed. After his shells were cut, of course he could not row, as the boats offered him were not fitted for his use and there was no possibility of winning in either one of them.

Now comes in the main question—why did the American oarsman allow Larmon and Burt Brown, whom he employed to watch and care for his boats to go to supper and to Mayville to buy pools and leave his boat-house and boats unprotected, not even by a bull-dog. Hanlan never left his boats, without watchers, so he informed us last evening. Mr. Courtney's men went to supper, and then went to Mayville, as they say themselves, to buy pools, and were gone two hours. They left the boat house at 6 o'clock. Mr. Courtney locked the boat-house himself, and allowed them to go, but told them to be back in half an hour. The distance was over two miles. When they returned they found that there had been some "seesawing" among the boats. Frenchy Johnson's boat was not disturbed. Where was Frenchy? He was also at the Chautauqua House buying pools of Major Quinby. We do not believe that Mr. Courtney was a party to the swindle. We in allowing his boats to be unguarded. There is a rumor that Mr. Soule's son, several days ago, offered to bet $500 that the race would not come off. In conversation with Mr. Soule yesterday afternoon, he stated to us that he did not know that the boats were cut until 10 o'clock; that Courtney would not row, and that if Hanlan did row he would not get a cent of the prize he had offered. Mr. Soule said he would remain at Mayville until he found out who the villains were who cut the boats. In our opinion that's one of those things no fellow can find out, and Mr. Soule had better give it up and come home. The certificate of deposit is in the hands of Mr. Soule, notwithstanding the rumor that Mr. Blaikie has it in his possession. It reads as follows:

CITY BANK OF ROCHESTER,
Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 11, 1879.

The Hop Bitters manufacturing company has deposited in this bank $6,000, payable to the order of William Blaikie, referee, on the return of this certificate, endorsed by him; said amount to be paid to the winner of the Courtney and Hanlan Hop Bitters prize race, on October 16th, 1879.

C. E. UPTON, Cashier.

The $6,000 will not be delivered up until it is shown that the terms of the agreement are fulfilled. Mr. Soule claims that the terms have not been complied with; that Mr. Courtney did not enter the race. The referee, however, decided to call the race, and did so. Hanlan went over the course, and the referee declared that the Canadian had won the Hop Bitters prize; but as previously reported, Mr. Blaikie, unfortunately for Mr. Hanlan, does not hold the certificate of deposit. There is no law in the land that will compel Mr. Soule to give up the money. There was no race, and all pools and bets were declared off. The pool-sellers paid back the money, we understand, but collected 3 per cent., the amount they would have received if the race had taken place.

Suit For Damages.

Charlotte Observer, 21st.

Late in the evening of the last day of March, 1878, Captain K. S. Finch, accompanied by Mr. J. R. Hawkins, bridge-builder of the Carolina Central Railroad, left this city for Lincolnton, on a crank worked by four negroes. Emerging from a cut on the outskirts of the city and on a down grade, those on the crank did not perceive, until it was too late to stop, that a train on the Atlanta & Charlotte Air Line was backing toward the junction, and that in all human probability the crank and train would meet upon the crossing, Captain Finch and the negroes took in the situation, jumped and narrowly saved their lives. Mr. Hawkins stuck to the crank and, the collision occurring as foreseen by the others, sustained injuries which resulted in his death in a few days. His widow has entered suit for damages in the Lincoln Superior Court against the Air-Line Railroad Company, and the case will come on at the fall term of that court, which commenced at Lincolnton yesterday.

An Ugly Man's Rage.

Forest News.

A singular case is to be tried in the Gilmer (Georgia) Superior Court next week. About a year ago a showman was exhibiting a trained monkey in that county. Among other tricks, the monkey had been taught to fire a pistol. The showman handed the animal a pistol and told it to "shoot the ugliest man in the crowd." Some mischievous boys had put shot into the pistol, and when the monkey picked out his man and fired, the shot took effect, and slightly wounded the ugly man, who pulled out his knife, cut the monkey's throat and whipped the showman. The monkey died next day. The ugly man is indicted.

Dropped From the Balloon Pathfinder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Superintendent Wilson has just received a dispatch from Lake Indiana, as follows: "A package of papers was found on the beach here this morning, thrown out of the balloon Pathfinder." The papers have printed on them "Dropped from Prof. Wise's trans-continental balloon, the Pathfinder," and are similar to papers dropped over other points by the Pathfinder.

Radical Policies in Two States.

New York World.

In New York where there is a Democratic State administration, the Republicans avoid State issues and fix their eyes sternly on the South. In Massachusetts, where there is a Republican State administration, the Republicans equally avoid State issues and fix their eyes sternly on the South. It is because they can find nothing to condemn in New York and nothing to applaud in Massachusetts.

BROTHER AND SISTER.

Elopement and Marriage---A Brief Honeymoon in the Woods.

Vandalia (Ill.) Dispatch.

A young and respectable looking couple, brother and sister, named Fred and Louise Ruckmann, son and daughter of quite a respectable farmer, residing in Lone Grove township, about twenty miles from this city, boarded the train a few days ago, went to St. Louis and were made man and wife. They remained in the city a day or two, then returned homeward, getting off the train at Brownstown, a station eight miles from this place, and, for fear of being detected, wandered out in the woods near the town and remained there until found and arrested to-day by Constable Joseph Copeland. The man is about twenty-one years of age and of good appearance, and his sister nineteen and rather good looking. When asked why he was induced to commit such an act he said: "My sister loved me so well we thought the best thing we could do would be to get married." He was further asked if he did not know it was wrong and against the law to do so, and also why they hid themselves in the woods and kept away from their parents. This he answered by saying: "We did not know it was wrong, and only hid in the woods for fear of being discovered by our folks, as they were very much opposed to our marrying." Their parents are respectable people and are very sadly grieved over the unparalleled act of their children. They were tried this afternoon, were found guilty, and were bound over, the man's bond being fixed at $500 and the woman's at $300, in default of which they were committed to the county jail. The affair has created great excitement in this city.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Boy Shoots Himself by His Gun Slipping.

Charlotte Observer, 21st.

Last Saturday morning a party of young men of Lincolnton, among them Johnny Hoyle, a youth of about fifteen years, went out bird-hunting from that place, and about a mile from the town there befell young Hoyle an accident which in a few moments resulted fatally. Separated a little from his companions, he stood upon the eastern end of the railroad trestle a mile west of the town, leaning upon his gun, his right arm over the muzzle and the breech of the piece resting upon a sill. Suddenly the gun, upon which young Hoyle was manifestly bearing considerable weight, slipped, and falling upon the hammer exploded the cap which caused the discharge of the gun. The charge passed through the youth's right arm, tearing it to pieces between the wrist and the elbow and entering his body passed through his heart and ranging upward, came out near the shoulder. The others of the party having their attention attracted by the discharge of the gun, ran to the aid of the young man, but he expired almost instantly. The body was removed from the track barely in time for the passage of the western-bound train, and was conveyed as quickly as possible to Lincolnton.

King Alfonso and His Prospective Bride.

VIENNA, Oct. 20.—The Duke de Bailen, the Spanish envoy extraordinary, has arrived here to demand the hand of the Archduchess Marie Christine in marriage with Alfonso, King of Spain. After this formality the Archduchess will make a solemn renunciation of her rights of succession to the Austrian throne in the presence of the imperial family and the Duke of Bailen. It is expected that the Archduchess, accompanied by her mother, will leave Vienna November 20th for Paris, remaining there two days to see King Francis and Queen Isabella. Her imperial highness will then proceed to Madrid by the way of Irun, and will be conducted by the ministers of war and foreign affairs with royal honors to the Parado palace, near Madrid, where she will sojourn for eight days previous to the solemnization of the marriage ceremony in the Atecha church. The wedding will take place on the 27th or 28th of November, the King's birthday occurring on the 28th.

The Negro Protected in Washington.

Washington Post.

Maria Doster, a negro school teacher in the Randall building, complained to Judge Snell yesterday morning that the prisoner in the dock, a small colored boy named Nathaniel Duckett, and a pupil in her school, had been disorderly and struck her in the breast and pinched her arm. The little fellow, whose head was on a level with the dock rail, was fined $5, without being allowed any defense. Although he said, "I never touched her until she struck me in the mouth with a stick," the court paid no attention to his remark. The boy was led down to the cells again, and the woman went off rejoicing.

What the South Does.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The "Solid South," bent upon destroying the Union, now contributes to the general ruin of the country at the rate of over five million bales of cotton, two hundred and ten thousand hogsheads of sugar and five hundred and seventy-two million pounds of tobacco every year. It never produced so much before in its entire history. It steadily increased its great staples since the carpet-baggers ran away. The danger to the country is that unless bayonets and thieves govern the South again it will produce too much and become too rich.

Getting Over It.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20.—Miss Lulu George, who shot herself two weeks ago out of grief for the death of her lover, has recovered sufficiently to start for home to-day, at Bonaparte, Iowa.

It is rumored that the sale of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has taken such dimensions that the proprietors are unable to supply all orders. We advise our druggists to prepare themselves for all emergencies, as the people rely on them for this valuable remedy.

THE OYSTER SEASON.

WHERE THE BIVALVES COME FROM FOR THIS MARKET.

The Plantations in the Potomac and Chesapeake---Dredging, Tonging and Nippering.

Washington Republican.

The arrival of the months with R in them to the epicure means a renewal of past pleasure, owing to the fact that oysters are now in season. As these bivalves are objects of interest to a large class of people, some facts relative to them may not be amiss. As is well known, the best oysters brought to Washington are taken in Chesapeake Bay and near the mouth of the Potomac river. The first point on the latter at which oysters are caught is Nanjemoy Beach, about sixty-five miles from Washington. This class of oysters are not brought to market as they do not possess the requisite flavor. Instead, however, they are used for stocking beds in more favored localities. The average age necessary for an oyster to attain before it is fit for table is about three years. When an oyster is transplanted, as in the case of those taken from Nanjemoy, care is taken to get the youngest.

Each year that an oyster lives the shell takes on a ring, the bill being pushed forward, then having what is known as a paper edge. These marks are easily discernible by men who handle oysters for a living, but to outsiders are not distinguishable unless pointed out. The first shell formed on a an oyster after it is spawned is a smooth one, but contact with various articles on the bed roughens it until it assumes the wrinkled, crooked appearance it presents when brought to market. Cedar and Persimmon Points on the Potomac are great breeding places for oysters, but they are too small and not flavored enough to be palatable. This grade of oysters is usually taken to York River and Milford Haven, where it is placed in beds and allowed to remain undisturbed for at least two years. In all cases, however, the oyster taken from a natural bed is the best. These beds are the most noted among dealers in oysters, as their products are always sought after and large prices paid for them. Along the Potomacas good-flavored oyster is seldom found before reaching Cone River, at a point about fifteen miles inside the mouth of the former.

A fair oyster is taken out of St. Mary's river from beds which extend nearly to Point Lookout. This grade is usually sent to Baltimore for the canning trade, few coming up this far. This bed is also known as common dredging ground, no State license being paid either to Maryland or Virginia. During the past three years from Fort Lowrie to Jones' Point, on the Rappahannock river, the finest oysters in the market have been found, and in nearly every instance from natural beds. Ususally in transplanting, about twenty-five bushels are scattered over a forty-foot square, although the quality of the bed usually determines the quantity. A hard bottom with a top dressing of from three to five inches of mud is usually considered the best. In catching the oyster, tonging and dredging are resorted to, but the choicest are taken by what is termed nippering—that is, tonged singly. The bill of the oyster is seen sticking out of the mud probably half an inch, and the tongs are let down after it, the results usually being very satisfactory. This plan is only pursued on the best beds, and where choice oysters are wanted.

The price of this class varies from $1.40 to $2.25 per bushel in market, and from fifty to sixty bushels is considered a good day's work, while by the dredging process the number of bushels per day runs up into the hundreds. The best oysters are taken from the Great Wicomico and York rivers and their tributaries. Without doubt the finest flavored oyster is the Cherrystone, which is taken inside the Capes. The price of these oysters is a great drawback to their sale, and very few are brought to this market. Usually they are engaged weeks in advance by leading restaurateurs of the country, who retail them at extravagant prices, Baltimore being especially noted for this fact. The spawning seasons of the oyster are in the spring and fall, their growth being at the rate of an inch between times.

Owners of beds during these periods throw overboard everything that an oyster can possibly attach itself to, such as pine boughs, pieces of wood, leather, iron, old bottles, etc. The oyster thrives on this diet, some of the largest ever taken out the river being found clinging to an old boot or pine bough. The schooners that come up to the wharves in this city are supplied with stock by canoe men, who are constantly employed by planters during the season. Owing to the warm weather, trade has been somewhat backward this season, no salt-water oysters having yet been brought up because of their tendency to spoil quickly. The season for this class opens about the 1st of November and continues until the middle of spring, their place meanwhile being filled with fresh-water stock. The scene in the vicinity of a large bed while a boat is getting her cargo are of a most interesting nature and once seen are never forgotten.

A Sudden Flood in the Catawba.

Charlotte Observer, 21st.

The Catawba river made a sudden rise Friday evening, going up nearly four feet in the space of an hour, at a point opposite the city, and continuing to rise during that night and the next day. The result was that many cattle and hogs were drowned. A farmer who lives on the river for years says he has never seen the carcasses of so many animals floating by his place, and of pumpkins there is no end. Everybody was taken by surprise, as there had been very little rain in this section of the country, and hence the destruction to hogs and cattle. The river was still out of its banks Sunday, but fell during the night. The loss will be considerable.

A Big One.

Asheville Journal.

A redhorse, weighing seventeen pounds, was caught in a seine, in Henderson county, about four days ago. This is hard to believe, but let our readers bear in mind that nothing is so sublime as a faith that can swallow anything, especially fish stories.

A Wise Deacon.

"Deacon Wilder, I want you to tell me how you kept yourself and family well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors visiting us so often."

"Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in time; kept my family well and saved the doctor bills. Three dollars' worth of it kept us well and able to work all the time. I'll warrant it has cost you and the neighbors one to two hundred dollars apiece to keep sick the same time."

"Deacon, I'll see your medicine hereafter."

DAILY NEWS

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1879.

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

NO TRUTH IN IT.

For several days past a rumor has been floating about the streets to the effect that the NEWS establishment had been sold to Captain Samuel A. Ashe, and would be merged with the Observer. Now, we positively state that no such sale has taken place; that the above rumor was started and put in circulation by irresponsible parties, whose actions, if not of malicious design, certainly have a tendency to injure our business.

Furthermore there is no idea entertained of selling the NEWS establishment.

TO-MORROW is the great day at Salisbury—the Soldiers' Reunion. The attendance bids fair to be large,

TWO WEEKS more and the New York election takes place. As she is the pivotal State this year, the event will be watched with much anxiety.

THE Tilden boom appears to be increasing, judging from the sentiments expressed by many journals heretofore considered unfavorable to his nomination. Not that they have changed in feeling but look at the matter in the light of availability.

THE Republicans of Louisiana have decided to make a contest for the various State officers at the December election, and to that end will put a complete ticket in the field, headed by Judge Beattie, a prominent and influential business man of New Orleans. They do not, of course, expect to elect anybody, but the organization will be effected in behalf of Grant, and the State Convention which meets in a few days will elect delegates to the next National Convention. This matter has been sprung so suddenly that it will in all probability head off Secretary Sherman's Custom House boom.

THE New York Tribune is forced to acknowledge that the laws are being upheld in "that pestilential hotbed of crime," the State of South Carolina. Some time ago a man named Brice, a Republican, was killed at Walhalla, while engaged in some purely personal affray. Forthwith it was announced in the Tribune that it was a political murder and ever since that journal has indulged in strictures on the lawlessness of the people and the utter insecurity of life when a Republican politician was concerned, and that the murderers being Democrats would go unpunished. Now it says:

Private letters from Walhalla, speak of the two men who shot Brice, a white Republican leader, a few weeks ago. They say that the men are in a fair way to receive speedy trial and punishment by the local authorities unless the political features of their crime are forced into prominence. The writers are leading Republicans. They say their own safety depends to a large extent upon the conviction of these men, and they therefore ask that their friends make no report of anything they hear in connection with the trial. The criminals have few friends, and the sentiment of the community is against them.

So it appears that the murderers are in danger of conviction. But the funniest portion of it is that these men are to be punished owing to the fact that they have but few friends. In view of this wouldn't it be just as well to retract the assertion that Brice was killed on account of his convictions and that his murderers would go unpunished on account of theirs?

A NUMBER of our State weeklies announce that they are clubbing with the Chicago News, furnishing the two papers at an advance of seventy-five cents above their regular subscription rates. They undoubtedly think this a good policy—that it will enable them to increase their subscription lists by adding a premium. They have had shining examples of such happy results in several instances set before them, and think like the man who sees his neighbor draw a lottery prize, that they will meet with the same luck. There is one thing, however, they do not seem to consider. If the outside journal is worth anything whatever the people will drop the small local paper at $1.50 or $2.00 per year and take the large foreign paper furnished at $1. In other words, they are going to have the largest quantity at the lowest price. If our State contemporaries can afford to pursue the ruinous course of aiding to establish, greatly to their detriment, a large circulation for a paper located in a far distant section of the country, why, that is their own business. But we know they cannot. Many of our people can afford to take but one paper, and they are going to have the best. County papers have none too large a circulation at the best, and it seems like deliberate suicide to put forth a cheaper foreign article in competition with their home manufacture and derive no profit therefrom. Another thing, our Democratic State weeklies must take solid comfort in is disseminating Republican "literature," thinly disguised by the title of an independent newspaper. For this is an effort put forth by the Republican campaign committee to flood the South with temperately written Republican precepts and opinions well calculated to entrap the unwary—a far better plan than was employed by the much derided "Tilden Literary Bureau."

FAIR PLAY PLAYED OUT.

For several weeks the sporting world has been kept to a high pitch of excitement over the sculling match between Charles E. Courtney, of Union Springs, N. Y., and Edward Hanlan, of Toronto, Canada. They were classed as the most powerful scullers this side of the Atlantic, and perhaps in the world. Each had performed great feats. Mr. Courtney for several years contented himself with the simple title of amateur and refused to row for nothing but such prizes as were commonly offered by clubs, the intrinsic value of which were comparatively small; of such as they are, however, he has a house full. He was the winner in the Centennial race at Philadelphia. Prior to that time and for some time after he invariably declined to row in money matches, but he finally consented and beat with ease the theretofore famous ones in the United States.

Mr. Hanlan's late career is too well known to rehearse; suffice it to say he has been singularly fortunate. Last year he and Courtney tried their metal on the Lachine course—and a worse one could not have been selected—and the former winning the choice of positions, won the race. Had Courtney won the toss the result would have been in his favor. He was thereupon, and most unjustly, charged with selling the race.

This Chautauqua Lake race was gotten up with a view of furnishing a vast amount of cheap advertising for a patent medicine firm. The proprietor offered a purse of $6,000 to be given to the best man. Courtney accepted at once; Hanlan dallied for a few days and then accepted also. A well-known amateur oarsman, a gentleman of probity, Mr. Blaikie, was selected for referee. Everything looked fair for a fair race. The oarsmen took up their quarters and commenced practice. On the morning of the race it was discovered that both of Courtney's boats were cut partly into, ruining them. An easy summary of the after proceedings will be found on the first page.

And now the curses are falling loud and deep on Courtney's head. For what? It is alleged that he sold out. But why should he destroy his boats? Why should Hanlan ask him to "Come out, if you have the spirit of a man, and row in another boat"? For the simple reason that both of them knew that both would have to start to make a race. The gamblers were undoubtedly at the bottom of the whole thing. They destroyed Courtney's boats and then tried to jeer him into a race that they might win their money placed on Hanlan. But they were mistaken in their man. The game didn't work. Hanlan didn't get his money, and all bets are declared off.

It would seem as if fair races are a thing of the past. No matter how honest the participants may be, the gambling fraternity seem to determine the result.

The race may yet come off; good weather may permit it; but Courtney cannot replace his boat under a fortnight, and then the practice season, and it will make it very late for racing this year.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

Will the Republicans Recapture the House?

Washington Star, 20th.

The chances of the Republicans carrying the House of Representatives in the XLVIIth Congress are looming up. It is considered that they have a good deal more than a fighting chance, and under the excitement and pressure of the Presidential campaign may indeed not only succeed in turning the Democratic majority but getting possession, with a majority ranging all the way from twenty to thirty. Take, for instance, Ohio: The Congressional delegation now stands Republicans 9, Democrats 11. Undoubtedly the first act of the newly chosen legislature will be to redistrict the State for Congressional purposes, and Republicans can do this without sadly destroying the symmetry of the map, and give themselves 15 Representatives, allowing the Democrats only 5, and at the same time make them fight hard for one of these. This will be a gain of six to start with. The result in Iowa, too, indicates that both of the districts now represented by the greenbackers can be regained by the Republicans. This will be a gain of two more. In Indiana there is almost a certainty that the Sixth (De LaMatyr's) district can be carried by the Republicans, and that the chances are even with both parties for carrying the Fourth. This is another gain. The reports from North Carolina are that the Republicans have very good prospect for carrying two of the districts in that State, and a strong effort will be made to get three. In New York the chances are considered good for a gain of two for the Republicans, and the same number in Pennsylvania. A gain is also expected in the Third Wisconsin district. With the efforts which the Republicans will put forth the Fourth and Fifth Maine districts, now represented by Ladd and Murch, will also be reclaimed.

The revival of business which is now sweeping over the country, may also have the effect of giving to the Republicans the Second Connecticut district, especially so if Tilden is not the Presidential nominee and Senator Barnum is apathetic. The Thirteenth Illinois district is one which the Republicans feel sure they can reclaim with the "rag baby" out of the issue, as it probably will be. It was carried last year by Stevenson, a Democratic Greenbacker, by only a few hundred majority. Oregon will also send a Republican representative in place of Whiteaker, the present incumbent, who at the last election did not receive a plurality, or a majority of all the votes cast. There is also a fighting chance for the Republicans in the First Tennessee district, and in the Tenth (Memphis district) if the Greenbackers who numbered one thousand three hundred and fifty-seven votes return to the Republican party, from which the bulk was largely recruited. In Vermont, Barlow, the Greenbacker, will most probably be succeeded by a Republican, but inasmuch as on all party divisions Barlow has always voted with the Republicans, this cannot be set down as a gain.

The present outlook indicates that the Republicans will have a gain of twelve members sure to start with, and with excellent prospects in as many more districts. The present Democratic majority, on a strict division of party lines, is not overnice, although the Republican opposition, including the votes of the Greenbackers, aggregates fourteen or fifteen. In a Presidential year the vote is always the heaviest, and thoughtful Democrats are quite ready to concede that, with the Greenback party no longer a disturbing element, the Republicans have a good show for regaining control of the lower house of Congress.

The Meeting of the Governors.

Philadelphia Times, 19th.

The Governors of States who met in Carpenter's Hall and again in Independence Hall yesterday, all represent great subdivisions of a greater country. Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Connecticut, Delaware, North Carolina, Massachusetts and South Carolina were there in the persons of their Chief Magistrates or authorized representatives, and all of the other Colonial Commonwealths were present in spirit through messages of sympathy. It was an assemblage not great by reason of the actual number of persons who composed it, but because of the great constituencies at their back. The speeches were made in the proper spirit, and the resolutions adopted will not fail of indorsement by the people, not alone of the thirteen original States, but of every other State in the Union. The proceedings look to a national celebration, a great national jubilee, in commemoration of the crowning military success of the patriots who took up arms in 1775, and who did not lay them down until the surrender of the sword of Cornwallis at Yorktown, on the 19th of October, six years later, betokened the complete and final renunciation of British claims to sovereignty over the people who at Philadelphia, in 1776, declared their independence. The lessons of history are enforced upon the rising generation, the gospel of freedom is preached, in no more effective way than by such celebrations as began at Lexington in 1875 and will end at Yorktown in 1881, and one of the incidental advantages of such enterprises lies in preparatory meetings like that of yesterday, in which widely separated and long estranged representative citizens of our common country are brought face to face, and, hand clasped in hand, renew their pledges of devotion to the principles which are the corner-stone of our indissoluble republic. The effect of such love-feasts may be eclipsed in the heat of a political campaign under the fiery breath of demagogues, but it will not be worn away, and must, in the end, help on the course of permanent peace and unity.

Look Forward and Not Backward.

Providence Press.

What the Democrats want is a man with a future in civil life; not one with a past military career.—Springfield Republican.

What all political parties want, is to look a little less upon careers, and a little more to future policies. The war era closed governmentally on the 4th of March, 1877, financially on the 1st of January, 1879. The issues now before the country turn on trade, finance and local government. And that party will command popular support which will take up living issues rather than the dead events of the past. On the other hand, that party will be defeated which in the national contest of 1880 makes the South the "pivotal" issue. Reform the North, strengthen the West, give the people a chance to attend to business, and the South will have to follow suit. It is idle to urge that the interests of the majority should turn on the follies of the minority, and the South is in a hopeless minority.

Sly Doctors.

It is a fact that many of the "regular" doctors who will not recommend Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for the diseases which it so effecually removes, yet use it "on the sly" in their practice. They must soon adopt it openly as the standard remedy.

VEGETINE.

Behold Me a Well Woman.

CANCER.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 26, 1878.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

DEAR SIR:—I have for years been a sufferer from a dreadful CANCER in my side which caused me untold agony, and as I am a widow with a family depencent upon my exertions for a support, my pain of body was only equalled by my pain of mind, at seeing my children want for bread. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with half a dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live! and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess.

Yours gratefully,
MRS. FULLER SUTT.

I write this to certify that I have known Mrs. Fuller Sutt from childhood, and have seen the hours of agony, that her patient womanhood has been called upon to endure. She has suffered untold agonies and now sits beside me in perfect health with her child upon her knee. The prayers of this grateful woman will ever be yours, my noble sir, and we add our testimony to the thousands that favor the greatest of all modern discoveries, "Vegetine."

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been suffering for 25 years with the Piles and found but little relief from any medicine that I have taken for many years past. Last winter I suffered considerably worse than ever before, also in connection with Rheumatism I was confined to my bed for several weeks. Having procured a bottle of Vegetine I took it with good effect. I continued the use, and after taking four or five bottles, find myself comparatively cured. I can cheerfully recommend it for the benefits that I have received from it.

Yours respectfully,

I had used it only a short time before I could discover a very great change in my health for the better. I don't consider that your medicine has its equal, for the diseases which you propose to cure, especially the disease that I have been afflicted with

LIVER PILLS

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Also the McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

GOSSIP FOR THE LADIES.

Palabras Carinosas.

[A Spanish Air.]

Good night! I have to say good night
To such a host of peerless things!
Good night unto the fragile hand
All queenly with its weight of rings;
Good night to fond uplifted eyes,
Good night to chestnut braids of hair,
Good night unto the perfect mouth,
All the sweetness nestled there—
The snowy hand detains me then
I'll have to say good night again!

But there will come a time my love,
When, if I read our stars aright,
I shall not linger by the porch
With my adieus. Till then good night!
You wish the time was now? And I,
You do not blush to wish it so?
You would have blushed yourself to death
To own so much a year ago—
What! both those snowy hands?
Ah, then,
I'll have to say good night again!
—THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH.

Two children were playing in the sand together. The small boy said to the little girl: "Do you wish to be my little wife?" The little girl after reflecting: "Yes——." The small boy: "Then take off my boots!"

A little girl was puzzling herself about her transferrence from heaven to this mundane sphere, and questioned her mother: "Did God and the angels have a funeral when I came away?" "I presume there was no funeral," replied the mother. "Well," said the child, "I presume they all felt bad."

The other night, as a burlesque was being played at a well known theater, the somewhat unfeminine costumes of the actresses ruffled the susceptibilities of a prim young lady in an orchestra seat. "Dear me!" she ejaculated, "how dreadful it must be to show one's self in that way to so many people—at one time!"

Charley: "What girl was that you had in tow last evening, Harry?" Harry, on his dignity: "What you please to call tow, sir, is what people of culture generally speak of as blonde tresses, sir." (Goes off in a huff, while Charley whistles in a low key, his eyebrow curved like the back of an enraged cat). —Boston Transcript.

"O yes, I'm mad—just as mad as I can be!" exclaimed a fashionable lady, tossing her head to give emphasis to her words. "To think that those horrid reporters should have had the impudence to lug me into their description of the Fitzgerald wedding! Ugh! the horrid things—and they didn't even mention the lace on my dress!"

A well-dressed little child, lost by some negligent nursemaid, was the center of a sympathetic crowd of gentlemen. Questions poured in upon the child from all sides, but with no effect. At last a gentlemen asked: "Where were you going to my little dear?" "Nuss," bubbered the infant, "sed I'se to go to heben."

A correspondent writes: "In your last number your allusion to promiscuous kissing among dissenters reminds me of a kiss called the "kiss of reconciliation," with which a very high Anglical clergyman sealed his sentence of absolution, were his penitent but young and fair. He heard confessions in a private oratory established in his own house and so decoyed his spiritual flock into constant visits. One of them talked her mother over to adopt the modern guise 'mock turtle' Romanism. She, too, knelt and humble penitent before the ritualistic fledgling. 'Did he kiss your mother?' I inquired. Her naive daughter answered: Oh, no? of course not. She is such a saint you see, that she requires no reconciliation."

The strike of the Bound Brook, N. J., woolen factory hands has been amicably adjusted.

Cuticura

THE GREAT SKIN CURE,

The most Healing, Soothing and Refreshing External Application in the World

It rapidly heals Ulcers, Old Sores, and Discharging Wounds; Itching Piles and other Itching affections that have been the torture of a lifetime, thus affording unspeakable gratification to thousands; Burns, Scalds, Wounds and Fester; all Itching and Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and all Affections of the scalp, including Loss of Hair. Nothing like it has ever been known to the most intelligent physicians. It has swept a host of poisonous remedies out of existence. It is revolutionary in its composition and mode of treatment and succeeds in curing every external affection. At every stage it is ably assisted by CUTICURA SOAP, which is a part of itself medicinally and at the same time the most delightfully fragrant and refreshing Toilet, Bath, and Nursery Soap in existence.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a powerful purifying agent and liver stimulant, should be taken to neutralize and resolve away blood poisons, caused by the virus of scrofula, cancer, canker, malarial or contagious diseases, which maintain and foster diseases, which maintain and foster diseases of the skin and scalp.

SALT RHEUM.

Life a burden from the sufferings caused by this terrible disease.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER—Gentlemen: Please accept my most grateful thanks for the great, very great, comfort I have received from the use of your CUTICURA.

For the past eight or nine years I have been troubled with that dreadful disease, Salt Rheum,

For months I would be helpless,—my very life a burden to me.

I have used everything in the shape of medicine, both external and internal, but with no effect.

My hands were in a terrible condition, the backs of them being all raw, and I thought I would try CUTICURA.

I tried it, and lo! it was as if a miracle had been performed, for I will take my oath that in three applications my hands were as smooth as a new-born babe's.

I presume there are hundreds, if not thousands, who know of my case, among whom there may be some one similarly afflicted, and if so I would earnestly advise him to give CUTICURA a trial.

Yours, very thankfully,
A. D. BAKER, Ticket Agent C. S. R. R.

Tetter or Salt Rheum

On the hands cured. A greatful letter.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER—Gentlemen:—Having been troubled for many years with the Tetter or Salt Rheum, I spent many a hard-earned dollar. I was given a trial of your CUTICURA, and, thank God, my hands are well. I never had anything do me good like that.

You may put this in the paper and welcome, and may it do some other poor sufferer the same good it has done me! I am well known here, having lived here almost fifteen years and kept boarders for a living, and sometimes my heart was sore, thinking I would have to give up altogether with my sore hands, and having a small family to take care of; but oh! thank God, my hands are well, so I again return thanks.

Yours respectfully,
ELIZABETH BUKLEY.

The Smith—Jones Wedding.

The following is copied from a Northern exchange:

The wedding of Miss Kaidee Jones, the favorite vocalist of Washington, to Mr. Claude William Smith, son of Honorable William A. Smith, of North Carolina, which took place at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Brooklyn, N. Y., on last Wednesday evening, October 1st, was one of the most brilliant and fashionable weddings of the season. Among the invited guests were Governor Tilden and his sister, Judge Betts, Judge Gilbert, members of Baron De Wagstaff's family, and many of the most prominent people of New York. The uncle of the bride, Rev. Henry B. Cornwell, performed the ceremony in the most impressive manner. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, the music, rendered by one of the first organists in the city, was fine, while the gleaming white satin dresses, made en traine, exquisitely trimmed with orange blossoms and lilies of the valley, and the soft tulle veil, crowned with orange blossoms, made the lovely bride look lovelier than ever. After the ceremony at the church an elegant reception was given at the Rectory to the relatives of the bride and bridegroom, a number of Mr. Smith's family having come from North Carolina for this occasion. Among the bridal gifts were many rare and valuable ones. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Smith left New York for an extended tour. Miss Jones, or rather Mrs. Smith, is a niece of ex-Governor Samuel J. Tilden.

Horse Trading.

Oxford Torchlight.

Amounts to a passion with many people. It is not uncommon for these jockeys to trade five or six times in one day, and then ride the same horse home at night they first traded in the morning. The colored population enjoy this species of gambling no less than the whites. John Oby (col.) wore a pair of new shoes and rode a mule to Oxford Thursday of court week. He wanted to trade horses, but could find no one willing to trade without "boot." This he did not have; but his new shoes and an empty pocket book were substituted, and the result was that he left his mule and new shoes, and rode a blind "mar" home.

The contractors for iron on the bureau of engraving building are about a month behind, and the work is consequently put back. All iron interests are so pushed that it is impossible to calculate when the contractors will be able to furnish material, although it is expected that there will not be much further delay.

At Cumberland, Md., at dinner time Monday, Clark Smith, aged fifty-five, an inmate of the jail, while trying to show the other inmates his ability to swallow a large piece of meat, had the same fastened in his throat and choked to death.

The score in the San Francisco walking match at 9 P. M., Saturday, stood as follows: Men—Brodie 180, Wilcox 168, Newhoff 173, McAlpine 140, and Guerrero 202. Horses—Controller 243, Denver Jim 199, McCarthy 246, Pinafore 268, Hoodlum 217, and Nelly 250.

"Don't Know Half Their Value."

"They cured me of Ague, Biliousness and Kidney Complaint, as recommended. I had a half bottle left which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them one night if I had not given them Hop Bitters. They did them so much good I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Hop Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough."—B., Rochester, N. Y. See other column.

How Great Men Die.

Since the death of Speaker Kerr and Senator Morton, of Bright's Disease, it has been noticed and noted that a large number of our public men and leading business men die too early from the same or a similar cause. By using Warner's safe Cure, their diseases will be cured, and their valuable lives prolonged. The time is coming when, because of this remedy, no one will die of such diseases as Bright's and Diabetes.

VEST POCKET CURE
25 DYSPEPSIA 25
CLERGY & DOCTORS TESTE

Rev. Dr. Mangum, Prof. Univ. of N. C. I concur with Bishop Doggett in his estimate of the Vest Pocket Cure.

Rev. Drs. Jeter, Broaddus, Dickinson, (Bap.) It is indorsed by the direct personal testimony of men of national fame and strictness of speech. It is not too much to say that no medicine ever had such support in its favor as a specific. The word of any one of the eminent divines who underwrite this antidote to dyspepsia has deserved weight. Their united witness joined with the experimental use and approval of the preparation by well-known physicians, removes all doubt. It is beyond question, a wonderful therapeutical agent.—Editors Religious Herald, Va.

Chaplain Randolph Macon College, Va. Many cases of Dyspepsia within my knowledge have been cured by it. Cramps, Colics, Headaches and all sorts of pains from indigestion yield promptly to it. The cures of this sort are innumerable.

Rev. R. L. Dabney. LL. D., Col. Va. It is highly esteemed here by the regular Medical Faculty and the people. It is excellent for indigestion and flatulent colic, sedative, soporific, tonic, slightly aperient, without nausea.

Rev. B. F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf. About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I am indebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

Rev. Robert W. Watts, A. M., Va. I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

J. D. Eggleston, M. D., Va. It is a highly valuable remedy, and is more extensively used than any single article in the whole list of medicines, so far as I observed in my practice, for all the complaints in families from indigestion. I use it and recommend it.

Editor Richmond Christian Advocate. This remedy is of tried virtue. I have seen Dyspepsia cured completely by it. It seems to be an antidote to our "National Disease." The ingredients are not kept by the apothecaries, and have been difficult to get.

Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by all druggists. In Raleigh, by
